

Is the FCC going to allow the Sinclair Broadcast Group to air its propaganda and call it "news" to avoid election laws requiring balance and transparency? If so, please explain yourself.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Instead, it abuses its access to promote its political agenda and undermine our democracy. When large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for the bottom line and less substantive information.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
